

These were your body guards before you began traveling with presidents and getting the army and secret service to protect you.